11...cxd5 12.exd5 11.d5?! was a dubious move, as the arising pawn structure is advantageous for Black. White will have to lose too much time to activate his ♖-side pawns, while for Black it's much easier to get his central e+f tandem going. 12...a6 13.g4!? Ne8 14.g5

Although White prevented f5, his ♖-side is weakened and his only plan is to try occupying the e6-square. Black somewhat underestimates this (16...♞c8?! doesn't seem the best move.)
